Green Rooibos (Aspalathus Linearis) Leaf Extract

Green Rooibos extract is derived from the Green Rooibos (Aspalathus linearis) plant, which is native to South Africa. It can be found in various forms, such as tea and dietary supplements and is used in cosmetics and personal care products for its antioxidant, anti-inflammatory, and soothing properties.

Potential benefits of Green Rooibos:

1. Skincare products: Green Rooibos extract is incorporated into creams, lotions, and serums to provide antioxidant benefits, which can help neutralize free radicals and support healthy and youthful appearing skin.
2. Soothing products: Its anti-inflammatory properties make it an excellent ingredient for after-sun treatments, facial mists, and calming masks.
3. Cleansers: The extract can be added to facial cleansers, body washes, and soap formulations to provide a gentle cleansing experience.
4. Haircare products: Green Rooibos can also be incorporated into shampoos and conditioners for its potential antioxidant and scalp-soothing properties.

Usage:

The percentage of Green Rooibos extract added to cosmetic formulas can vary depending on the product and desired effect. Generally, small concentrations ranging from 0.1% to 2% will ensure product stability, effectiveness, and safety. However, this is just a general guideline. The actual percentage differs across various products and brands.

When formulating a cosmetic product, DLG Naturals recommends consulting with a cosmetic chemist or follow recommended guidelines by the raw material manufacturer to determine the appropriate concentration. It's also crucial to consider any potential interactions with other ingredients, product pH, and stability to ensure a safe and effective final product.

While Green Rooibos extract is believed to offer various benefits in cosmetic products, it is essential to note that individual results can vary. Further, how Green Rooibos extract is used is entirely at the discretion of the user. In the United States, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has specifications pertaining to labeling and promotion of cosmetics regarding health and medical claims. For more information, please refer to the FDA site here. Green Rooibos extract is offered by DLG Naturals for external use only.
